

Geetha Janet Vitus, is teaching in Post-graduate in Education as well as guide research projects. She is also involved with projects related to disabilities in education at the University Center for Learning Disabilities in the department of education. She has been active in associations for research in education and has made academic presentations.

She has been with WCCI India Chapter from 2000 onwards, participated in the national level conferences organized by WCCI in India and have been participating in the WCCI conferences as an annual member since 2004 in Wollongong AUSTRALIA and have presented papers. I will soon be becoming a life member of WCCI. She also proposes to take responsibility to revive the India Chapter by hosting conferences and increasing membership for the Indian Chapter and encouraging participation at the world conferences.

She envisages that the WCCI would be a launching pad for academicians and educators to be innovative in educational practices and processes in the world that is rapidly progressing in technology and a platform for dialogue and conversations on these developments, thus be the sign of availing of technology for peace and harmonious development of nations.
