

Peter Heffernan, PhD., is from Canada and is currently the President (2008-2012) of the WCCI-North American Chapter. Now completing his second, two-year term in that capacity, he welcomes the opportunity to continue his work at the level of the international board. For his upcoming term (2011-2013) as a WCCI-International Executive Board member, he has set the following goals for himself –

1) to promote continuing increase of the WCCI membership from North America, particularly from Canada and Mexico, while building on the already strong and valued American base at both the North American and international levels,

2) to promote continuing and growing value of diversity (whether represented by gender, religion, political system, skin color, language, culture, or other) within WCCI and in the WCCI's educational outreach to the diverse human community found in all the corners of the world; and

3) to continue to try to be a peace maker by fully listening to and respecting others and recognizing in the end that we are all servants for and to one another.
