

John Raven has, for 35 years, been involved in policy evaluation and the development of the tools and arrangements required to run society effectively.

Much of his work has been in the educational area, the evaluation of socio-economic policy, and the evaluation and improvement of the politico-bureaucratic structures and arrangements required to give teeth to information.

Dr. Raven has been a consultant to the World Bank and the governments of England and Wales, the Republic of Ireland, Scotland, Pakistan, and China.

In addition to his work in these countries, he has, with colleagues, conducted research in the USA, Brazil, Peru, Argentina, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, India, Malaysia, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Belgium, Poland, Slovakia, and Hungary.
